

Johanna Lybeck Lilja

Johanna Lybeck Lilja currently works as Executive Adviser at Nordea Bank Abp. In this role, she is Head of Public affairs for the Nordic region for business areas Business Banking, Transaction Banking and Personal Banking as well as Head of Public Affairs and policy issues for Sweden. She is a board member of Nasdaq Nordic Oy, Swedsec Licensiering AB (the company is responsible for licencing financial advisers and specialists in the Swedish financial market) and the National Swedish Economics Association.

Prior to this, Johanna Lybeck Lilja held several positions at the Swedish Ministry of Finance between 2008 and 2014, including as State Secretary with responsibility for financial market regulation, Director at the Budget Department and Special Advisor. During her time at the Swedish Ministry of Finance, Johanna spent the major part of her time on the policy measures adopted to manage the financial crisis and the various legislative proposals at EU and national level regarding the regulation of the financial markets and the financial institutions.

From 1996 to 2008, Johanna Lybeck Lilja worked at the Swedish central bank, the Riksbank. During her time at the Riksbank, Johanna held several positions; as advisor for EU-affairs, as Head of Unit at the Financial Stability Department and as an economist both within the financial stability and the monetary policy areas.

Johanna Lybeck Lilja has studied economics, statistics and business administration at the University of Stockholm, Sweden, and economics and political science as a scholarship student at the University of Massachusetts, USA. She also holds a Certified European Financial Analyst (CEFA) certificate.

