

Christian M. Stiefmueller

Mr. Stiefmueller is a Senior Adviser on financial regulation at Finance Watch, the Brussels-based think tank and advocacy group representing the interests of European civil society in Finance.

Previously a senior investment banker, Mr. Stiefmueller has over twenty years' first-hand experience in the financial industry. He has worked at a number of major global banks, co-founded and managed two London-based Corporate Finance advisory boutiques, and served as an adviser to listed and private corporations and financial investors on a wide range of M&A, equity and debt capital markets transactions across Europe.

Mr. Stiefmueller holds graduate degrees in Law and Applied Languages from the University of Innsbruck, with a specialisation in European and international law, and a Master's degree in Business Administration from the University of California, Berkeley. He works as an expert consultant with international organisations, such as the World Bank and the IMF, and speaks regularly at international conferences and workshops. He is the author of numerous articles, research reports, policy papers and other publications on financial regulation and international governance.
